noon in 1858, Stuator Bigler of Pennsylvania, a good specimen of a northern democrat, ofthan a war of source, vilification and detroction began. Ten thousand charges have been for the purchase and distribution of garden and other seeds. As soon as he had taken villainous publications, which no decent his real fiery Schator Iverson, of Georgia iournal would hoace by naming, here kept aprang to his fert and violently opposed it up the stream of calumny, and blackguards measure. When he closed, John P. Hai measure. When he closed, John P. Hale, like those who have been traversing Oregon with that peculiar expression he always word through every state. By its more sagacious ross and said : "Mr. President, I am deeple nen the party was warned against this months grieved. Truly republics are ungrateful. Here is my distinguished friend from Fennander H. Stephens, "and the country knows sylvania who has ever faithfully striven to him, and if you continue to above and vilify carry out the wishes of the south. He has him you will elect him." But the foul defact given early and worked late to please his mation went on. The mud-slingers were sure southern friends, and now when he comes for their tactics would win. Then came Onio his pay and meekly asks only a little garden-and Indiana. In those states, as elsewhere, seed and a few cabbages his humble request seed and a few cabbages his hamble request vilification of General Carrield was the sole is indignantly re used!" R. M. T. Senator Muson, of Virthat the old calumnies were, powerless, scowlingly over his speciacles as if to rebuke Something new had to be invented. Of the ill-timed merriment, but in a mement his ourse there was no though? of pitching the features relaxed, a broad grin at the pulpable sattle upon higher ground. Statesmanship hit overspread his face, and in spire of himself he too joined in the general hilarity.

And Senator Bigler? What of him? Oh! he was a norther; democrat. He sat still and And now the fargers of the pretended Gur-

But writing is no fargery because the signature was written "Galfield" instead of Garfield As the court was in no mood to be trided and first is the most signal Hustra-this last effort is the most signal Hustra-the forgers and desperation in a party ever the forgers for contempt. How Chairman cendency it becomes an unspeakable diagrace, with in this way, and as the rascals refused and fitly emphasizes such party's fall, to produce the pretended original, it commitout of is l. does not now, appear. That may be the study of the democratic managers dur ing the balance of the campaign. It will furnish as good an "issue" as the party has had lately. The scoundrels are trying crawl out at a very small hole when they rely forged, but claim that it was no crime because staked its last he pe and effort on this fraud. Appomatter left the southern confederacy.

> If the Morey I tter were a genuine one why the Sun, the Star and the Express, so declared? Why does the S in, the most bitter and persistent of all the ournais that oppose Gardeld, denounce it wit; the remark that the cause of an honorable party "needs no support from faisifiers and forgers?" Why does the Chicago Times, which strongly supports Han-cock, declare this writing to be proven an absolute forger; by evidence which would convict the forgy thefore any jury in christen-dom?" Why was it rejected when offered to two responsibles democratic journals in New York, one of them being the Sun? And who was it at last, nitized through an obscure sheet of which nobody ever heard before? Because it is a lorgery. Reliance upon this paltry villainy proves not only total want of honor in the canagers of the democratic camuaien, but their miserable imbecility also ten times more rattry and miserable.

The New York Times says of the Barnum Philp forgery: "There does not now seem the slightes; doubt that the wretched device of Barnum will do thore harm to his own party than to the gentleman whom it is aimed at.
